INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT OF FACTS

- 1. A widespread and systematic attack was directed against the civilian population in East Timor in 1999. The attack occurred during two interconnected periods of intensified violence. The first period followed the announcement on 27 January 1999 by the Government of Indonesia that the people of East Timor would be allowed to choose between autonomy within the Republic of Indonesia or independence. This period ended on 4 September 1999, the date of the announcement of the result of the popular consultation in which 78.5 per cent voted against the autonomy proposal. The second period followed the announcement of the result of the popular consultation on 4 September and lasted through 25 October 1999 when INTERFET intervened and stabilized East Timor.
- 2. The widespread and systematic attack was part of an orchestrated campaign of violence, that included, among other things, incitement, threats to life, intimidation, unlawful confinement, assault, forced displacement, arsons, murders, rapes, torture and other forms of violence carried out by members of the pro-autonomy militias, members of the Indonesian Armed Forces, ABRI (Angkatan Bersenjata Republik Indonesia) renamed TNI (Tentara Nasional Indonesia) in 1999, and members of the Indonesian Police Forces (POLRI) with the acquiescence and active participation of civilian and military authorities.
- In 1999, more than twenty-five militia groups operated throughout East Timor. Their goal was to support autonomy with Indonesia. The Integration Fighter's Force (PPI, Pasukan Pejuang Integrasi) under the command of João Tavares and Eurico Gutteres was the umbrella organization under which these militia groups were organized. It had the backing of the TNI and the Civil Administration. PPI Commanders issued, called upon and incited militia groups and their members to intimidate independence supporters and those perceived to support them. The militia groups participated in the widespread and systematic attacks and acted and operated with impunity.
- 4. That large-scale attack was directed against civilians of all age groups, predominantly against individuals who supported or were perceived to support independence, and resulted in lethal injury including death by sharp force injury, gun shot injury, blunt force trauma or a combination of the three.
- 5. As part of the widespread and systematic attack against the civilian population, the militia destroyed the infrastructure of East Timor, including housing and livestock belonging to the civilian population.
- 6. The widespread and systematic attacks resulted in the internal displacement of thousands of persons. Additionally, the forcible transfer of the civilian population within East Timor and deportation to West Timor, Indonesia was an essential

- 7. Under the terms of the 5 May 1999 Agreements between the Republic of Indonesia, Portugal and the United Nations on the popular consultation, the Indonesian security authorities (TNI and POLRI) had the responsibility to ensure a safe environment devoid of violence or other forms of intimidation as well as the general maintenance of law and order before and during the popular consultation. The TNI and POLRI failed to meet these obligations and made no attempt to disarm or neutralize the militia groups. They were allowed to act with impunity.
- 8. The Indonesian Military in East Timor consisted of both regular territorial forces (BTT) and Special Combat Forces, i.e. the Strategic Reserve Command (KOSTRAD, Komando Strategis Angkatan Darat), and Special Forces Command (KOPASUS, Komando Pasukan Khusus), all of which had units, staff officers and soldiers stationed across East Timor.
- 9. From February 1999 to October 1999, the Indonesian Police Force (POLRI), the state agency responsible for upholding law and public order, was also present in East Timor. It included a Mobile Police Brigade (BRIMOB), whose units and members were also stationed in East Timor.
- 10. The militia groups operated in all 13 districts in East Timor with the backing of the TNI and the civil administration. In Covalima District, two militia groups were active in 1999, namely Laksaur and Mahidi. The Mahidi militia primarily operated in Zumalai Sub-district and the Laksaur militia primarily operated in the other five Sub-districts of Tilomar, Suai, Fatumean, Fatululik, and Fohorem.
