

After seeking help from others, [the lover] realizes that her Beloved is within her as His garden and in all the other believers as His beds of spices, feeding in her and other believers as His gardens and gathering the pure and trusting ones (lilies). Christ's garden is in our spirit. If we live in our spirit, our spirit becomes a garden in which we grow all the beautiful, spiritual, divine, and heavenly things, which are sweet to His taste.

The lover [then] tells them, according to her faith, that she belongs to her Beloved and He to her and that He is now feeding His pure and trusting ones (lilies).
