

Phil 108, First Paper Topic

Due: Thursday, February 21, in class, before lecture begins (=9:40).

Maximum Length: Five double-spaced pages, 12-point font, one-inch margins

Is Unger right that “on pain of living a life that’s seriously immoral, a typical well-off person, like you and me, must give away most of her financially valuable assets, and much of her income” to relief agencies such as OXFAM? What do you think is the best objection to Unger’s view? (You may choose an objection put forward by Murphy or Cullity, or suggest an objection of your own.) Does this objection succeed? Why or why not?
